Information on Top 100 Chinese Accounting Firms Released

(Beijing, June 26, 2014) – On May 30, 2014, CICPA released 2014 Top 100 Chinese Accounting Firms (hereinafter referred to as Top 100). Though PwC China, Deloitte China, Ernst & Young China and KPMG China, namely the “Big Four,” still stay at the top of the ranking, local Chinese firms has gradually narrowed their gap, especially “Ruihua CPAs” and “BDO China Shu Lun Pan CPAs” whose revenue has already exceeded Ernst & Young China and KPMG China, and listed as the 3rd and 4th of the ranking.

It is the 12th consecutive year for CICPA to publish the information since it set up the mechanism to publish the information of Top 100 accounting firms in China annually. Unlike the practice of its kind the other bodies take, besides by revenue, CICPA ranked the Top 100 on basis of their comprehensive evaluation scores of penalty and discipline deductions, other indices and number of employed CPAs. Other indices include basic conditions, internal governance, practice quality, human resource, global business, IT and social responsibilities of accounting firms.
